

An Dro : d'Alan Alan Stivell's

Comp. : Trad. Brittany region, France

Disc. : Alan Stivell

Notes : Very simple melody played by the Breton harpist Alan Stivell at the concert at the Olympia hall (Paris) in 1972. This was a special gig because it marked the beginning of the "Celtic" music trend in France. There isn't a documentary that doesn't mention it, by Toutatis! Attention: Traditional Breton songs unfortunately have no names; this title was given by someone who wanted to categorize the melody. This tradition causes a lot of confusion and makes it extremely difficult to search for Breton music in databases.

The musical score is written in treble clef with a 4/4 time signature. It consists of three staves of music. The first staff begins with a key signature of one flat (B-flat) and a common time signature. It features a melody with eighth and quarter notes. Above the staff, the chords Am, G, and Am are indicated. A first ending bracket labeled '1.' spans the final two measures of the staff, with the chords G and Am written above it. The second staff starts at measure 5 and continues the melody. Above the staff, the chords G, F, Am, Am, F, G, Am, G, and Am are indicated. A second ending bracket labeled '2.' spans the first three measures of this staff, with the chords G, F, and Am written above it. The third staff starts at measure 9 and continues the melody. Above the staff, the chords F, G, and Am are indicated. A first ending bracket labeled '1.' spans the first three measures of this staff, with the chords F, G, and Am written above it. A second ending bracket labeled '2.' spans the next three measures, with the chords F, G, and Am written above it. The score ends with two measures of whole rests.
